

Join us for an academic conference highlighting the conflict in Nagorno Karabakh

Nagorno Karabakh War between Azerbaijan and Armenia generated one of the world's largest populations of internally displaced persons, or IDPs, when hundreds of thousands of ethnic Azeris fled their homes in the face of Armenian forces.

The Minsk Group spearheads the efforts to find a political solution to the conflict in and around Nagorno Karabakh involving Armenia and Azerbaijan.

Keynote Speaker:
U.S. Ambassador Robert Bradtke, former co-chair of the Minsk Process, who will speak on the search for a peaceful settlement.

Other speakers include:

Thomas de Waal, Senior Associate, Caucasus, Carnegie Endowment for International Peace

Tracey German, UK Ministry of Defense Staff College

Asbed Kotchikian, Lecturer, Bentley University

E. Wayne Merry, Senior Fellow for Europe and Eurasia, American Foreign Policy Council

Ambassador Rudolf Perina, Former Senior Deputy Assistant Secretary of State for European and Canadian Affairs

Alexandros Petersen, Advisor, Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars

George Zarubin, President/CEO, Eurasia Partnership Foundation

Taleh Ziyadov, Research Fellow, Azerbaijan Diplomatic Academy
